

Arundel Playhouse welcomes new resident Stephen Russell to the management committee and as Treasurer

The Arundel Playhouse is delighted to announce that Stephen Russell, a relatively new Arundel resident, has joined its management committee. Stephen replaces Tony Hudson who stood as Treasurer for the last 10 years but stepped down earlier this year to pursue other opportunities. Stephen's enthusiasm for community involvement, combined with his valuable expertise, promises to bring fresh contributions to the Playhouse.

Having recently relocated to Arundel, Stephen was eager to find meaningful ways to support his new community. Responding to the Arundel Playhouse's call for volunteers, he found a perfect opportunity to make a difference. "The playhouse was an obvious choice," Stephen shared. "I wanted to share my expertise, having fulfilled a similar role for several years for a local residents' committee."

Stephen has already started implementing positive changes to streamline the Playhouse's activities, drawing on his experience and his passion for working with software. His proactive approach is proving to be an invaluable asset to the management committee.

"Joining the Arundel Players has changed my life," says Stephen. "It's a positive, inclusive, and supportive community that not only aims to entertain through productions but also seeks to enrich the community it serves."

Stephen's commitment to providing robust support services aligns perfectly with the Arundel Playhouse's mission. "I wanted to contribute to a service that is delivered to the community I live in," he explained. "It's been fantastic to see what goes on behind the scenes—the level of planning, detail, and fun involved is truly inspiring."

The Arundel Playhouse looks forward to a bright future with Stephen as part of its management committee.
